James Crawford
Junior Warden 2025-26

James Crawford is a chartered surveyor. His whole career has been spent within the property industry, specialising in turnaround and re-structuring of both property assets and asset backed businesses either through his consultancy business or through directorship appointments of private and public companies.

He is a member of the PwC turnaround panel and has worked with many of the leading banks. He is CEO of a private property group and involved with other asset backed companies.

James is a proud Yorkshireman and has lived to the northeast of York for many years. He is a keen sportsman and, together with his wife, Charlotte, has enjoyed the evolution of their home and garden. James and Charlotte have two children.

James' charitable interests have included serving as an independent school governor, Chairman of the alumni of his former school as well as numerous fundraising activities
